

College Connections: Edible History | Summer Assignment

Instructor: Professor Galen Martin | FIG Assistant: Summer Young | Fall 2017

Task: Create an 8.5" x 11" collage using either hand or digital media. Collage based off of your personal, daily experience with food to date. Use a variety of materials (magazines, found materials, photos, food itself!).

Consider: What does food mean to you? How do you think about the food you consume in environmental and social terms? What's the history or culture behind the food you eat? Do you cook your own food or does someone else cook your food for you? Where do the ingredients that comprise your food come from? Who do you eat with? What settings? Do you have any significant memories around food?

Due: First day of class

Note: Be prepared to pinup your work and give a brief, informal introduction of yourself using your collage. Have fun with the assignment. It should be an opportunity for you to explore your own relationship with food and get creative.

Grading: Graded on completion

Lucy Ives

"Hot Dog", Peter Clark

"Cold War Kitchen", Sally Edelstein